Catholic Priests in Poland Abused and Slain, Charge

German Gestapo Accused by Polish Legation

NEW SUB ATTACK

Germany Sends Out Fresh Wave of U-Boats

VATICAN CITY, Rome, Italy —(AP)—The Polish embassy at the Holy See made public Monday a report charging the Gestapo-Nazi secret police—and other authorities in the German-occupied section of Poland with persecution and atrocities which were said to be aimed at the "extermination" of Catholic Polish inhabitants.

The report, which embassy officials indicated was based on information from priests, charged the Gestapo with shooting at least 14 priests and with being responsible for the death of five others by maltreatment.

The report also charged Nazis with: Closing churches in Poland; driving the Catholic religion underground; beating, humiliating and imprisoning clergymen; and forcing a mass immigration of Poles from the archdioceses of Poznan and Gniezno.

New Submarine "Wave"

PARIS, France —(AP)—A "new wave" of German submarines was reported to have taken to the seas Monday to war on merchant shipping.

Meanwhile, Premier Daladier prepared to broadcast to the French people at 2 p. m. on a subject not announced.

The submarine foray was reported Sunday by the French high command, observers estimating the submarine force to be about one-third of the 75 to 80 submarines Germany is believed to have in commission.

1,250 Russians Killed

HELSINKI, Finland —(AP)—The Finnish high command reported Monday that its troops had killed more than 1,250 Russians in two battles in which the invaders were driven back on the eastern front.

Air Raid on Britain

LONDON, Eng. —(AP)—Air raid alarms were sounded a second time over the northern British coast Monday after Royal Air Force fighters and anti-aircraft guns had chased off the first group of German raiders.

The area of the warnings extended from the North sea coast 40 miles inland in Yorkshire, northern England.

Violent explosions were heard at sea off a north Yorkshire resort before the first air raid warning was sounded in four towns along the northern coast.

Seek Rumanian Oil

BUCHAREST, Rumania —(AP)—The struggle for control of Rumania's oil resources was intensified Monday with the arrival by plane of a 25-member British-French commission, followed shortly by a new group of German negotiators, who came by train.

New Sub "Wave"

PARIS —(AP)—A new burst of fighting between advance units on the Western front and a spurt of German submarine activity against Allied shipping were reported Sunday night by the French high command.

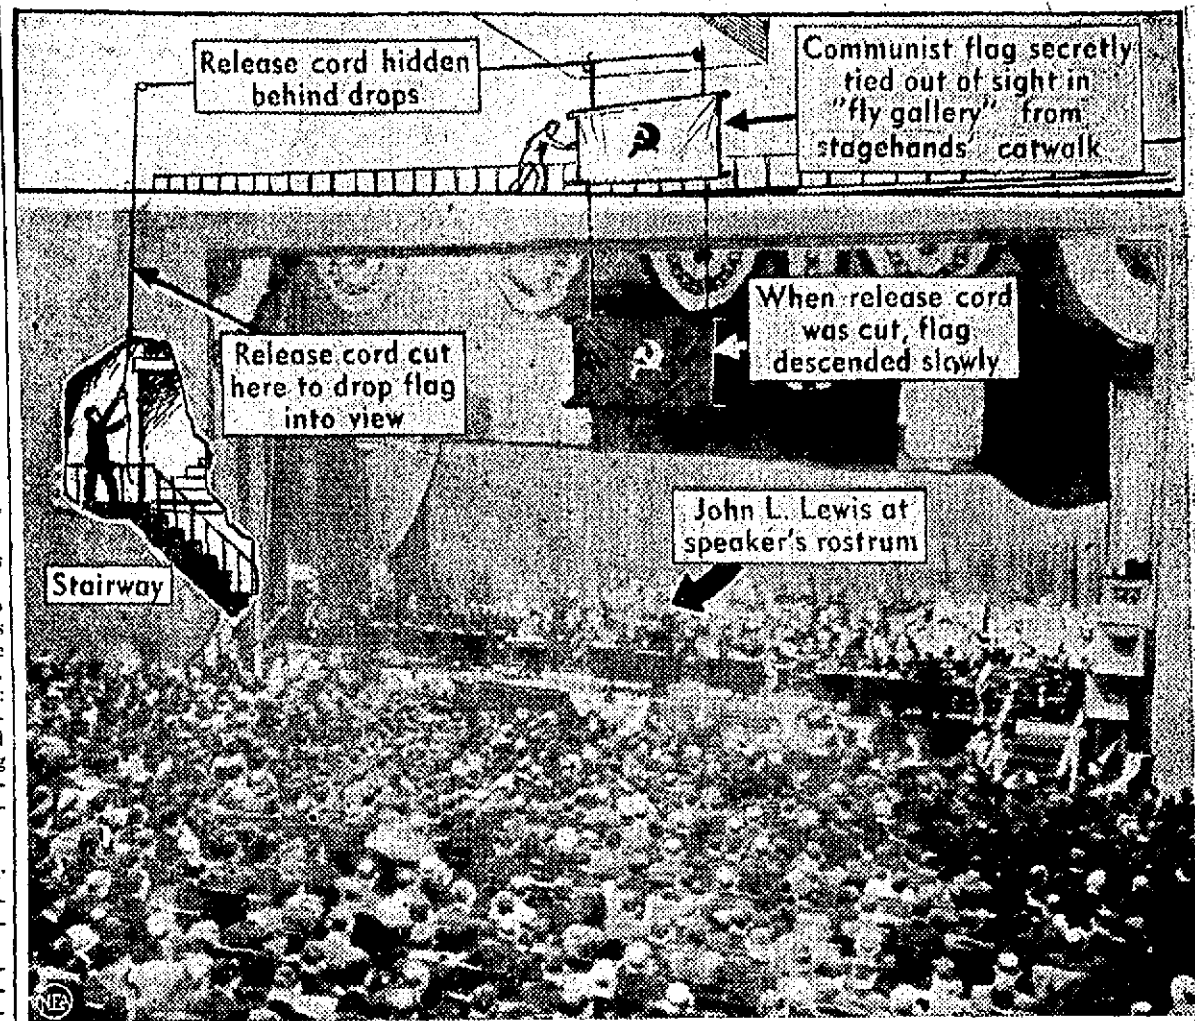

The evening communiqué said: "To day there has been renewed activity on the part of the advanced units at some points of the front."

The high command also reported renewed naval attacks against what was described as "a new wave" of German submarines preying on Allied shipping. Depth mines have produced results against the submarines, the high command said, though the number of craft destroyed was difficult to determine.

French observers estimated that about 25 German submarines were taking part in the new drive against Allied shipping. They said the submarines put to sea about January 22 and represented a third of the 75 or 80 submarines the Nazis were believed here to have in commission.

These sources expected the submarine campaign to last two weeks more before they exhausted their supplies and had to put back into port.

Friday night the Bobcats go to Little Rock where they meet the North Little Rock Wildcats in the new Joseph T. Robinson auditorium. The North Little Rock battle will be the only conference game of the week for Hope.

Appropriations of FDR Are Slashed

Cuts From Supply Bills However, Are Only Tentative

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Slashing a way at President Roosevelt's appropriation recommendations, congress tentatively has cut about $200,000,000 from the first five money bills to reach it. However, the figures may be changed before the bills are sent to the White House.

Latest of the appropriation recommendations to be reduced is the $781,230,456 Agriculture Department supply bill on which a House Appropriation Subcommittee completed work yesterday. There were reports that $75,000,000 had been cut from the Budget Bureau's recommended appropriation. On the basis of that figure reduction in the five bills, as they stand now totals $202,902,000.

The other bills and their status are: $251,822,588 emergency defense bill, awaiting House action on senate amendments. Total House and Senate reductions, $19,788,600.

$58,502,600 deficiency bill for naval armor and tax refunds, before Senate Appropriations Committee. House reduced total $1,822,400.

$1,100,000,000 independent offices, before Senate Appropriations Subcommittee. House reductions totaled $94,800,000.

$1,632,154,612 Treasury-Postoffice bill, before Senate Appropriations Subcommittee. House cut by $11,491,000.

Although its funds are much better, Argentina has fewer automobiles than it had 10 years ago. This nation is the best foreign market for American-made cars.

Ruefully surveying his smashed plates and plateholders, Lloyd Flowers, Columbus Citizen-NEA Service photographer, told of manhandling by delegates of the United Mine Workers' convention which robbed him of pictures he had made of the Communist flag descending above the head of President John Lewis. Flowers' plates were exposed and several plateholders smashed.

Russian Red Flag Secretly Placed Over the Speaker

Release String Cut, Letting It Fall Into View

Angry Miners Resent Plot—Perpetrators Sought

By NEA Service

COLUMBUS — Detectives, city officials, United Mine Workers' officers, and a thousand amateur shotlocks unleashed their mental bloodhounds today on the question of "Who Flagged Down the Mine Workers' Jubilee Convention with the Hammer and Sickle?" by lowering a red Communist flag over the head of President John L. Lewis.

Irate miners, evidently panicky at the thought of something that might somehow discredit their union, swarmed around news camera men as soon as they had snapped pictures. Plates were torn from cameras, exposed to the light, and in some cases broken.

Typical was the experience of Lloyd Flowers, Columbus Citizen-NEA Service photographer. When angry miners snatched his camera and exposed his plates, breaking several plateholders in the process, Flowers lost not only his pictures of the flag event, but all the others he had made during the afternoon.

The attitude of delegates was so menacing that Flowers was given an informal "body guard" to assure safe exit from the auditorium. In the excitement, he had left his kitbag behind and when he returned for it later, he found flash-bulbs and extra plates smashed.

Camermen Manhandled

Reporters, who like the photographers were guests of the convention properly identified with guest badges, were not interfered with, and their stories of the flag lowering were distributed all over the country by the wire news services. It was the news photographers who received the manhandling.

Even after the offending flag had been first hauled back up into the flies and then cut down, police took charge of it and refused to allow pictures to be made of the flag at the police station. It remained locked up overnight in a detective's desk pending a "conference" between the mayor, detectives, and mine union officials as to what should be done.

The flag had been hung in the flies suspended by a long cord which ran back over the catwalks to a room adjoining the gallery. It had been adjusted with a coat hanger tied midway its length so that when the cord was cut and the weight of the banner caused it to drop, the coat hanger caught between two beams, halting the flag's descent at the desired point just above President Lewis' head.

Safety Campaign Will Be Launched in Hope Schools

Move Is Promoted by Hope Chamber of Commerce

PROTECT STUDENTS

Effort Being Made to Reduce Automobile Fatalities

Wm. McComb, managing director of the Arkansas Automobile Association, which is a part of the American Automobile Association and F. W. George, field representative, will be in Hope this week to inaugurate a safety campaign in the Hope public schools.

This safety campaign was made possible by the chamber of commerce by securing enough memberships to the organization to justify the expense of putting it on.

Miss Beryl Henry, superintendent of the Hope public schools, is giving her active cooperation in the safety work and has called a meeting of all the teachers Tuesday night at the city hall to make plans for the installation of the School Boy Safety Patrol.

Chief of Police Sweeney Copeland has assured the chamber of commerce that he and his force will be glad to work with the representatives of A. A. A. and school authorities to make the campaign a success. He feels that this program will do much to make people of Hope safety conscious. "Hope was one of two towns in Arkansas in 1939 to win the national award for no serious accidents. Last year there were two, but we intend to do all in our power to win the award again this year."

In a statement to school patrons here and to the public generally, William McComb, managing director of the Arkansas Automobile Association, describes the organization he represents as a great civic agency preaching the doctrine of highway safety and developing it through cooperation with schools in the installation of School Boy Patrols in the elementary schools an automobile driver training in the high schools.

Primarily, of course, the Arkansas Automobile Club is a service institution.

Tuesday Final Day To Get Auto Tags

Revenue Officers Warn Penalty Will Go On Wednesday

Revenue Agent Ed VanSickle warned Monday that Tuesday of this week would be the final day to purchase state automobile license tags without a penalty.

Mr. VanSickle said that many persons were confused over the date and were of the opinion that Wednesday, the last day of January, was the deadline.

Mr. VanSickle cited the law which gave Governor Bailey authority to extend the time, from December 30 to January 30—not January 31.

Business at the revenue office the past few days has been brisk—but there are many automobile owners who have not purchased their license plates, Mr. VanSickle said.

Dizzy Dames Annoy King of the Hoboes

CHICAGO —(AP)—Jeff Davis, "king of the hoboes," waxed indignant over what he termed "swarms of" dizzy dames that are driving decent itinerants off the road.

Seeking conferences with juvenile authorities and social agencies, Davis explained that many veterans of his organization, Hoboes of America, Inc., were abandoning their carefree mode of existence because of the inroads of the weaker sex.

"There are at least 5,000 girls between the ages of 15 and 25 hitch hiking across the nation and swarming through hobo jungles," he said. "They're the greatest menace to American society. Ignorance of the pitfalls, they try to act tough. Many of them carry guns. They have brought a curse on every itinerant in the nation."

Two More Hope Athletes Leave for College Towns

Bill Tom Bundy and Thomas Quimby to Play Football

Two more Hope High School football players have received their diplomas here and have departed for college to continue their athletic and educational careers.

They are Bill Tom Bundy, 194-pound Bobcat center, who left Sunday for Conway where he was to enroll at Arkansas State Teachers college Monday of this week.

Bundy was accompanied to Conway by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Bundy. Bundy turned down offers from Henderson State Teachers college at Arkadelphia and Centenary college at Shreveport—to remain in an Arkansas school.

Thomas Quimby, stellar Bobcat guard of last season, has chosen Henderson State Teachers college at Arkadelphia. Quimby has already enrolled at Henderson where he joined several other former Hope High athletes, including Hugh Reese, Dick Moore, and Percy Ramsey.

At Arkansas State Teachers college, Bundy joined Bobby Elyen, all-state halfback of Hope, who enrolled there last week. Bundy and Elyen will room together.

Injury Judgment in Lawrence Co. Reversed Monday

Affidavit Charges Lawyer Offered Jury Bribe

ATTORNEY DENIES

Charges Spite Following an Old Indictment

LITTLE ROCK —(AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court held Monday that rectifying companies operating in Arkansas are required to pay 5 cents per gallon tax on each gallon of liquor rectified, blended or mixed.

The decision affirmed a Pulaski circuit court decree that Southwestern Distilled Products, Inc., should pay the state revenue department $14,972.03 taxes on liquor processed at the company's West Memphis plant between July 6, 1936, and June 14, 1939.

Members of the attorney general's staff expressed the opinion the decision would have no bearing on a case now pending in Benton circuit court to determine the tax applying on liquor sales by the Southwestern from its plant at Sulphur Springs.

Reversed in Bribery

Finding there had been an attempt to bribe members of the Lawrence county circuit court jury which returned a $5,000 personal injury judgment for F. G. Fooks against the D. F. Jones Construction company, the supreme court reversed the verdict and ordered a new trial.

"We find it undisputed that Clyde Robins offered to bribe certain members of the jury that tried the case, and that jurors who sat in the case did not disclose the attempt to bribe them, while qualifying themselves as jurors," the opinion by Justice T. H. Humphreys said.

Affidavit Filed

Chief Justice Griffin Smith and Associate Justice E. L. McHaney and Basil Baker said that Robins made an affidavit to Lawrence circuit court that Roy Richardson, Walnut Ridge attorney, was an unsuccessful candidate for congress in the Second district in 1936-37, called him into his office before the session of court opened and offered to pay him $5 for every juror "fixed."

Richardson, who represented Fooks in the lawsuit, denied every allegation of Robins, and said the latter had borne him ill-will since he was prosecuting attorney obtained an indictment of Robins by the Lawrence county grand jury on charges of grand larceny and receiving stolen property.

Hope Negro Held at Arkadelphia

Commodore Harris Is Arrested for Many Robberies

GURDON — The apprehension of Commodore Harris, Hope negro, while robbing the home of Luther Ward here Friday night was expected by local officers to put an end to a one man crime wave which has flourished here the past month.

When taken into custody by officers, Harris was wearing clothing stolen two weeks ago from the homes of G. I. Haynie and A. S. Ridgell. Haynie had located part of the clothing lost in the robbery, in a secondhand store at Arkadelphia. The negro burglar was taken to the county jail at Arkadelphia Saturday.

Thugs Can't Save Democracy

The American Bar Association's House of Delegates nearly adopted a resolution which would have condemned the use of illegal methods to preserve Americanism; was negated because it was incomplete. It was ordered sent back for enlargement and will very likely be presented to the full convention next September.

Violence to suppress alleged anti-American movements can never reasonably be condoned. Vigilante groups armed with clubs and bricks are just as dangerous to democracy as the people against whom they are organizing. Breaking up meetings of Fascists, Nazis, Communists by organizing bodies of "decent" citizens to invade public halls is in itself an undemocratic action. Yet, such assaults frequently are not only excused but openly admired. Enraged citizens who have clubbed participants in a "subversive" meeting back by their self-styled virtue. Even though the law is on their side with a few of the assailants, they never regard themselves as offenders.

"Illegal violence directed at activities deemed subversive, cannot be justified under any circumstances upon the grounds of supposed necessity," the bar association's statement declared. "Legal methods exist under our Constitution which are fully adequate to protect our institutions."

People who don't sympathize with groups sponsoring meetings don't need to attend. The police will. Police officers have a pretty fair knowledge of what constitutes violation of the law. If any local laws are violated, the responsible persons will be held to account for them. If federal laws are threatened, government agents will be notified.

The bar association saw another danger in promoting such tactics. When vigilantes attempt to break up meetings by violence, inordinant attention is called to the group holding the meeting. Such movements thrive on publicity. They invite meeting. Such movements thrive on publicity. They invite persecution. They like nothing better than to have a meeting raided so that everyone in the community will know about it.

There is very little danger in letting tiny groups of Fascists or Communists meet unmolested. If nothing happens, there will be no publicity. Their meeting will be ignored as it properly should be. For them, the project will be a failure.

The bar association will do well to pass their resolution if it is presented in September. It is significant that the men and women whose business is the law are showing a tendency to uphold that law, even at the risk of being assailed by pseudo-Americans.

Rheumatic Infection Among Youngsters Chiefly Responsible for Heart Disease

Among children and young people, from the ages of five to 24, rheumatic infection is chiefly responsible for heart disease. Figures assembled from a great number of clinics indicate that only 10 per cent of the heart at birth. Another 10 per cent is due to a variety of miscellaneous causes. This means that fully 80 per cent of the cases in childhood and adolescence is related to rheumatic infection. Deaths from rheumatic heart disease do not occur very often in children under five years of age, and such deaths are not here considered.

Deaths due to rheumatic infection of the heart have tended to decline in recent years. It is interesting also to observe that the rates have been higher in the middle Atlantic and in some of the north central states than in New England. Rates in the southern states are lower than those for the rest of the country.

Strangely, Utah leads all the other states with the highest rate, followed by New York, New Jersey, Colorado, the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Massachusetts. This situation in Utah has been a puzzle for the epidemiologists. We have always believed that rheumatic heart disease occurs most frequently in a cold, damp climate and at low altitude, whereas Utah is not especially cold, or damp or low.

Situations like this in Utah indicate how much more research is needed before medicine can attack successfully the problem of rheumatic heart disease. Actually, we do not know the cause of rheumatic fever or of rheumatic heart disease. The condition is not apparently controlled able by any of the new drugs of the sulfanilamide type that have been discovered although they are used in the treatment.

Nowadays it is possible to diagnose the disease earlier and with greater certainty than formerly; that means it is possible to get the patient to rest quicker which helps to save a few more cases.

Experts, like O. F. Hedley, of the U. S. Public Health Service, have not been able to say with any certainty why there has been a decline in the death rates from rheumatic heart disease among young people. They suggest that the disease may be getting milder, that diagnosis is better, that wide-spread removal of tonsils during the last 25 years may have helped the original generation or the succeeding one, and that our changing diet may have had something to do with it.

A Plea For Youth

Leave us our silly dreams, our hopeful songs;
Grant us our new horizons, seeming wrong;
Fear not, if we explore, heedless and free,
Dead to advice, blind to reality.
Leave us our faiths, our starry-eyed ideals,
Trample them not; they need not meet the test.
Of reason yet, for time alone reveals
The worth or waste of any golden quest.
Weep not for youth. We may be right—who knows
How worlds may alter in our strong young hands?
And if a burning zeal in us glows,
Be patient while we seek our promised lands.
We will grow wise with failure and with years;
There's time enough for judgment and for tears.—Selected.

WE THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT

No matter how big a help she is bringing up her children, a woman can't afford not to stop once every year or so and ask, "What am I doing me?"

If the honest answer is "Nothing or Very little," her situation is really serious. Because little allowance is made—even in the minds of a woman's husband and children—for the woman whose personality has grown dull and whose mind has gone stale. They forget she was busy being a good wife and mother while she was slipping as a person.

No woman should forget that hard but true fact.

It should occur to her when she is about to put off buying herself a dress she needs to get daughter Sally one the girl can very well do without.

It should occur to her when she starts to say, "Nonsense" to her husband's suggestion that she have a maid come in once a week to do the heavy work.

It should be remembered when she finds herself giving up her old friends because she hasn't time for them.

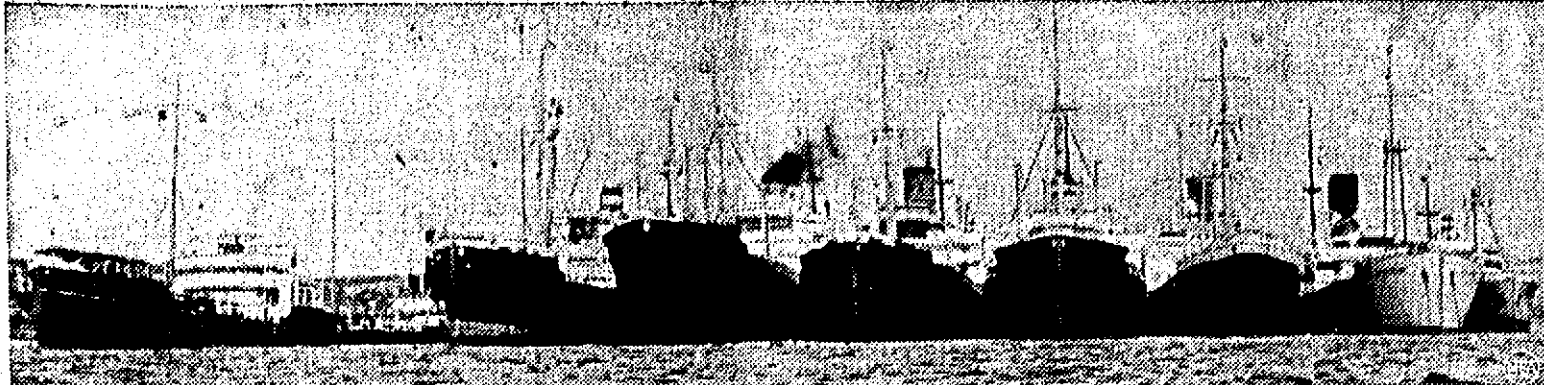

Unappreciated Sacrifices

She should think of it when she notices that she is the only one in the family without some absorbing hobby or interest.

She should consider it when she is tempted to "do everything" for her children, instead of letting them shoulder a little of the family responsibility.

It certainly should encourage her to find time to take care of her

Midshipman's Gal Is Tied to Clock

Late-Dating Frowned on — But College Boys Laugh

By JOHN S. GROVER

AP Feature Service

ANNAPOLIS—Romance punches a time clock at the United States Naval academy.

The Drags' Handbook, a guidebook for dates just published by The Log, academy magazine, emphasizes the handicaps imposed on romance by official regulations.

The midshipmen have to be home before the girls they date.

They have, at most, $10 a month to spend. (Try orchids on THAT budget!)

They can't have cars—can't even enter cars.

They must dash off to formation just when the dusk of afternoon is getting romantic.

SILLY HOPS

But official red tape has failed to decrease the weekend crowds of finishing school lovelies who flock to Crabtown for hops. Regulations or no, Debbie still rates a navy date as tops. (There's something about a uniform.)

Drags who date regularly at the academy must be a hardy crew to fit in with the rigid rules. If they arrive before 1 p. m., nobody meets 'em. The middies are still at formation. Regulations frown on chivalry while in uniform, and a middle is always in uniform.

Carrying the girl friend's baggage isn't forbidden, but it's disapproved. Respect for the uniform again.

The same reason bars greeting the OAO (navy slang for one-and-only girl) with a kiss when she arrives. No cap tipping, either. They salute, instead.

Clinging vines are out. The Drags' Handbook says don't hang onto the boy friend, or expect help across a street unless it's necessary.

Fleecy mittens, scarves and sweaters are don'ts for drags, too. (The hint looks lousy on blue serge uniforms.)

Once Is All

Coy maidens who keep their escorts waiting don't come back to the academy again. Cupid must conform to the split-second schedule, inflexible as sailing orders. Hops begin at 9 p. m., and midshipmen are forbidden to arrive later than 9:30. It means no dinner if drags dawdle dressing, so the regular drag develops the proficiency of a fireman in making quick changes.

Debbie walks to the hops too. She catches up her formal train and hits the bricks of the old colonial sidewalk if she wants to go. The bar against entering autos during the academy year is inflexible.

After the dance, there's no letup in regulations. First classmen get an hour to take their drags home and return to quarters, second classmen 50 minutes, third classmen 40 minutes. That's rushing romance.

And, the Drags' Guide warns ominously, the worst thing a drag can do is late-date (except another date after her midshipman has been forced by regulations to return to beddy-bye.)

College Boys Laugh

St. John's College boys, who have no time-clock regulations, chuckle at the Drags' Handbook declaration that late-dating "simply isn't done." They ain't talking, but they know better.

So maybe it's no wonder dates in Annapolis are so popular. There's glamour and the uniforms and the lure of old tradition at the naval academy hops, in company with a handsome midshipman, even if the regulations are rigid.

And if a girl is simply too, too weary to cope with any more regulations after her midshipman has gone home, there's always a St. Johnnie handy.

New Silks Given to U.S. by France

Latest Fashions Announced by Paris Designers

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Fashion Editor

Fabrics for new silk suits that will go everywhere, from the office in the morning to a roof-garden at night, have been launched for the 1940 spring mode.

Some of them have made their debut because a little French girl once had to spend long, lonely hours in the family drawing room waiting "to play a piece for company." Then she was Pauline de St. Maur, granddaughter of the Marquis d'Alphonse de St. Maur. Today she is Madame Paule Madoc, fabric and fashion consultant for one of the country's leading silk fabric houses. She shows new color effects in classic weaves.

In the years when she sat in the drawing room in her long-skirted ribbon-trimmed frock, all the pent-up with the piano instead of games went into nervously plotting ruffles into her ribbon sash. Rosettes and ruchings bloomed under her six-year-old fingers which acquired a strength and a feel for fabrics she keeps to this day. Moreover, she built up a firm determination to go places in smart clothes.

Years after an American marriage she uses all those plants and ruffles in her work, which includes designing clothes for her own dressmaking establishment. She's a French as creating suvettes—talks with her eyes, her shoulders, her hands—but everything she makes is done to meet the standards of the American woman's taste. She believes that the woman who often must work and play in the same clothes should go out in the morning "dressed in a way that fits a general or the opera." The answer, she says is a suit, an adaptable blouse that can do several tricks and the right smart claqueur.

First of the new spring fabrics she is scheduling is a handsome tooth check silk suiting, woven to resist wrinkling, crisp enough to tailor, soft enough to drape. She means it for suits that can take an airplane trip down without a crease and go to dinner or the fair. The collection also includes some colorful ruffled tulle and striped silks and great deal of classic black and navy bengaline, moire and faille.

Madame Madoc works with feverish concentration, with ruler, pins, thread, a lot of staccato French around her atmosphere. When she is working a new stripe, for instance, she starts it first on paper, like an engineer, with ruler and pencil. Next she sets pins along each side of a row fabric strip and draws colored roads back and forth until she gets the pattern she likes. Then the music is studied as a child comes into it. Fabrics as well as music, she says, must have rhythm to be good. She looks at the stripes, sits back and says "Mmm-mm-mm-mm." If the rhythm isn't right, she rips out the threads and works it over till she has the rhythm she wants. After the weavers adapt the pattern to classic silks.

Using fabrics of the 1940 spring collection, Madame Madoc has done some amusing tricks with silks. She designed one of black faille with softly tailored jacket and a skirt with a simple, shoulder-strap evening bodice top. With the jacket she is ready for work. When dinner hour comes, she caps the thing with a gay flowered hat.

Hair Raising

You've heard about it, but here it is—her hair stands on end. It happened to Miss Josephine Day as a half-million volts of static electricity passed through her body from the Westinghouse electrostatic machine on exhibit at the New York Museum of Science and Industry.

Shows 'Em

CLEVELAND—(P)—At 33, Miss Ruth Schrader was informed she was "too old" for the job she sought.

So today, at 47, she heads her own hosiery sales firm, employing 30 women—some just 33, too.

Miss Schrader was an office worker in her first job, but her employer "folded up" in the depression. She turned to an employment agency. There she heard her age made her chances for a job negligible. She sold neckties, bath salts, hosiery, even Christmas trees, all on commission. She saved a little.

On the theory that "Columbus took a chance," Miss Schrader invested in a budding hosiery business. She's "not getting rich, but getting along."

"It seems that after a girl reaches the gutter she can get plenty of help," says Miss Schrader, recalling her early sales experiences. "But as for the woman who is trying to keep out, people just don't want to be bothered."

Columbus School Has Good Record

Has One of Best Cage Teams in History of School

Columbus High School boasts one of the strongest "tiger" quintets in the history of the school.

Columbus, like most other rural schools of the State is too small to support, or to participate in football, usually opens its basketball season with practice, or pre-season games, in October.

As a result of this common custom, the Tigers have played a fairly lengthy schedule to date.

Their record at present is as follows:

- Columbus (32) at Saratoga (28).
- Columbus (25) at Guernsey (8).
- Columbus (17) at Spring Hill (17) at tie.
- Columbus (40) at Home vs. Washington (13).
- Columbus (29) at Emmet (23).
- Columbus (32) at Center Point (23).
- Columbus (33) at home vs. Fulton (24).
- Columbus (19) at Washington (26).
- Columbus (18) at home vs. Guernsey (11).
- Columbus (29) at home vs. Spring Hill (33).
- Columbus (27) at Saratoga (15).
- Columbus (34) at Fulton (22).
- Columbus (38) at Emmet (30).
- Columbus (24) at Williams (39).
- Columbus (28) at home vs. Hope (18).
- Columbus (28) at Lewisville (17).
- Columbus (42) at home vs. Washington (16).
- Columbus (25) at Rosston (28).
- Columbus (30) at home vs. Emmet (23).

On Saturday night, Feb. 3, the Tigers will play Center Point at the Columbus High School gymnasium and the girls team will go up against a sextette from Miller County over near Texarkana, a girls team coached by R. C. Kennedy, formerly of Hope.

On Friday night Feb. 9, Spring Hill will come to Columbus for three games.

Rice Still Hopes to Win Cage Title

Baylor Seen As One of Most Dangerous Teams

DALLAS, Texas—(P)—Title hopes still burned at Rice Institute Sunday, but it must run out its schedule without a loss to stand a chance at sneaking the Southwest Conference cage flag.

Only three games remain for the Owls—but they are positively the hardest that could be booked.

The next three weeks must be devoted to mid-term exams, and then the Owls will play a two-game series at Houston February 19 and 20 against Arkansas' towering Razorbacks. The finale comes February 27 at Austin when one of the largest basketball throngs in all Southwest history is expected for the Texas game.

Three of the four games Rice had booked on last week's difficult schedule settled in the Owls' laps, but dangerous Baylor, a team that may yet tip the race to a glorious muddle, nicked them by two points in the other.

Baylor, after putting up a terrific defense and a neat offense to win the opening Rice game, 45-43, started out Saturday night to do it again—and almost got away with it.

But in the closing seven minutes the Owls came tumbling back to still Baylor, 52-44. At the half the Bayers, doing nothing wrong behind the sniping of Joe Privalsky and the fine floorwork of Captain Shushan, clung to a 29-24 lead.

Thus, Rice went into its long lay-off with a record of seven wins against only two losses. Earlier in the week the Owls had tumbled Southern Methodist, 52-33, ripped the Texas Aggies, 67-54.

The six foot six inch Rice Sophomore, Bob Kinney, swelled his nine game scoring total to 102 points to step far ahead of the field. Two teammates, Frankie Craswell, who mixed two games because of a bad ankle, and Bert Selman, a chunky cagey ball handler, trailed in second and third places, Selman's 79 points topped Craswell by two.

Only Baylor plays two games this week, meeting the Texas Aggies at Waco on Tuesday night and then moving into Fort Worth on Saturday night for an engagement with Texas Christian.

Baylor, idling at 500 per cent with three wins and three losses, seemed almost out of contention in the pennant scramble, but still retained a slight chance. Nevertheless, the Bayers are now ranked as the most dangerous club in the loop and could easily throw the windup into a snarl if they should sneak up Texas.

Bobcats Holding Conference Lead

Howard Barringer Is Leading Individual Scorer

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(P)—Howard Barringer set a dizzy pace for individual scorers in the Arkansas High School conference last week to keep his Jonesboro team tied at the top of the standings with the redoubtable Hope Bobcats.

Although appearing in only two games, Barringer, deadshot center, has netted a total of 67 points, 25 ahead of his nearest rival, Osment of Jonesboro.

Hope, with three victories and no defeats, and Jonesboro with two victories and no defeats, are the only "perfect" teams in the loop. Pine Bluff is in third place with a record of five wins and two defeats.

Russellville ran afoul of the conference rule that requires teams to send in reports of all games, win or lose, and as a result got no credit for its victory over Clarksville. The mis-termine the manner in which they are to be run-of. Teams of the association will not be allowed to play non-member teams after July 1 and teams joining the association after that date will be forced to pay a penalty fee. Players must be signed to individual contracts.

New rules were discussed. A batter may attempt to reach first base if the third strike is dropped by the catcher with less than two out, provided first base is not occupied. The pitcher's box has been moved back from 40 to 43 feet. The distance for women remains the same 35 feet.

Motion pictures of activity in the 1939 tournaments were shown. Representatives from Warren Russellville, El Dorado, Hope, Conway, Pine Bluff, North Little Rock and Little Rock attended. Commissioners attending were Joe Goodwin of Russellville, C. C. Beers of Pine Bluff, Earl Erion of Hope, Jimmy Banks of Little Rock and John Hunt of North Little Rock. State Commissioner Otto Smith presided.

The women's invitational tournament will be held August 12-17. Both tournaments will be conducted on the double elimination basis. The winners will be eligible to represent Arkansas in the national tournaments at Chicago, September 6-12.

District commissioners were given authority to select the site and dates of district tournaments and to de-

THE CAPTAIN'S DAUGHTER

BY HELEN WORDEN

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Dan practically kidnapped Marie, takes her to the river for cocktails. She finds her self strangely attracted to this unpredictable young man. When she starts home, he takes upon accompanying her.

CHAPTER VI
BAT LA PORTE put down his pipe and reached for his hat. "I hear strange noises on the dock," he told his wife.

"You're always hearing funny sounds," she protested. "First you suspect Tommy Ryan and now I don't know what you imagine."

He growled. "I still suspect Tommy Ryan. Jerry McGuire tipped me off."

Shuffling across the linoleum-covered floor, he lifted the hatchway. "What time is Marie coming?" His voice began fading as his head disappeared through the hatchway.

"About 7. It's half-past five," Mrs. La Porte stepped toward the kitchen. "What do you want for supper?"

Bat never heard the question. He was too occupied by another problem. A shadowy group of figures swarmed about three trucks parked close to a dark-bodied barge. As Bat peered through the growing twilight, the figures resolved themselves into the forms of men. The only two he recognized were Tommy and a fellow named Derry, who pinch-hit as pilot on motor barges. If there was one thing Bat hated worse than a truck, it was a motor barge.

Bat let out a yell and cleared the distance between the deck of the Molly and the dock with one leap.

"What stuff is this that you cowards are loading?" he screamed. "I say cowards and I mean it. You wait till dark to do your dirty work."

He moved menacingly toward the trucks, fists clenched. Tommy dropped a box he had been lifting from a truck.

"It's no use, Bat," he said, not unkindly. "You're outnumbered. If you'd gone a little easier on me last night, I might not have done this."

Bat's face twisted with anger. "You're stealing the cargo meant for my boat tomorrow."

Tommy spoke up sharply. "Go easy on that word 'stealing.' I prefer shifting. We're trucking it from the West Side. The guys that ordered the stuff will get it a lot quicker than if you'd told it for them."

Bat sprang at Tommy. "You try to steal my cargo the way you would my daughter."

The truckman dodged him. "Careful, Bat. I haven't lost my temper yet. I might be mean if I did." He half-turned toward the dock he had put down, then stopped. "All of which gives me an idea. This cargo of phosphate means a lot to you, doesn't it?"

Bat shrugged his shoulders. "What do my private feelings count for?" His continued antagonism was apparent.

"Only this," Tommy spoke eagerly. "I'll call the fellows off this deal and let you pack the phosphate on the Molly if you'll bury the past and give Marie'n me your blessing."

"Are you out of your mind?" shrieked Bat. "The fellow doesn't live who's good enough for my Marie. I'd rather see her dead than married to you."

Lowering his head, bull-like, he grabbed Tommy round the middle and prepared to throw him bodily off the dock.

Tommy gave a yell. The other men dropped their loads and ran toward the two, shouting.

THE noise of the fight had aroused other barge people. Heads poked out of hatchways from boats on both sides of the dock.

"Bat La Porte needs help," cried a big Irishman on a barge nearest the fray. "It's them damned truckmen again."

"And they're stealing my cargo and trying to load it on a pirate barge," roared Bat, falling back as Tommy pried himself loose.

All the old rivalry between the canalboat people and the truckmen flared up again. It had begun seething ever since ice had begun to break in the river. Now, the World War when trucking started cutting in on barge hauling, was in earnest. Last night's skirmish was as nothing compared to the battle this evening.

In the confusion Tommy and his men finished loading the pirate barge. It slipped silently out while Bat and the other bargemen were still fighting. Bat turned in time to see its black hulk disappear down the river under its own power.

"We're all fools," he bellowed. "They finished loading that cargo while we were fighting these idiots."

Bat prepared to fling at them every word of abuse he knew in French as well as English. But before he could form a single phrase, the truckers fled down South Street. The cause was apparent. A police siren shrieked. For a few moments it seemed to be heading straight for Pier 6, then it grew fainter and finally faded entirely.

Record Cold Hits Southern Florida

Big Vegetable Crop Worth Millions Is Destroyed

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—South Florida suffered a parting, multi-million dollar freeze Sunday while sunshine slowly broke winter's 10-day siege of blighting cold across the South and Middle West. The bitterest weather of 24 years drove sugarcane temperatures to the southernmost tip of peninsular Florida to wipe out truck crops valued at $15,000,000 in two counties, with reports still lacking from other rich farm areas.

First estimates from Miami were that nine hours of sub-freezing weather, with an unofficial low of 24, caused 100 per cent loss in Dade county vegetable crops valued at from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Slightly to the north in Fort Lauderdale, indications were that Broward county lost beans and other truck crops with a possible value of $5-000,000. Plans were shaping to ask United States funds for replanting. Deaths from the current cold wave totaled 126. States reporting deaths from such weather-connected causes as fires, freezing, traffic accidents, etc., included: Arkansas 3, California 2, Colorado 2, District of Columbia 2, Florida 3, Georgia 5, Illinois 6, Indiana 5, Kentucky 3, Louisiana 4, Massachusetts 2, Mississippi 4, New Jersey 1, New York 15, North Carolina 3, North Dakota 2, Ohio 19, Oklahoma 5, South Carolina 5, South Dakota 4, Tennessee 5, Texas 6, Virginia 8, West Virginia 7, Wisconsin 4.

Two elderly tourists from Pennsylvania were found dead in their room at Sarasota, Fla., and officers said they were killed by gas while trying to keep warm. A three-year-old child burned to death near Panama City while helping another child build a fire, and several persons were burned seriously attempting to heat homes with emergency facilities.

Without an exception, every city where Schoolboy Patrol has been organized in the schools the accident rate both fatal and non-fatal among school children on the streets has decreased.

As an example, Washington, D. C. in 1925 had nineteen fatal accidents to children 14 years. In 1937—twelve

City of Flint Crew Taking Shore Leave

BALTIMORE—Crewmen of the City of Flint took long-awaited shore leave Sunday while hundreds of sightseers crowded down a cold dock for a look at the tubby freighter which was taken captive by Germans.

No visitors were permitted aboard the ship, where a three-man deck crew and relief Captain John McDougall of the Freighters Algis stood watch. Most of the sightseers, besieging Patrolman Henry Busky with questions, were disappointed.

"They expected to see shell holes in her," Busky explained. "They got the idea somewhere that she was shelled or had been in a battle."

Movie Stars Are Robbed in Chicago

Jewelry Valued at $33,095 Is Taken at Gunpoint

CHICAGO—(AP)—Five masked robbers held up Constance Bennett and Anita Louise, motion picture stars, and robbed them of jewelry which they valued at $33,095, just a short distance from Chicago's Loop early Sunday.

The actresses, accompanied by Richard Ainley, Miss Bennett's leading man in a Loop play which closed Saturday night, were returning to their hotel after giving a charity performance at the union station when the robbery occurred.

In their report to the police, Miss Bennett said their car was curbed by a small sedan. George Bayne, chauffeur for Miss Bennett, said one of the robbers jumped on the running board of the car and ordered him to "drive up a way or I'll blow your brains out." The other car followed.

The robber ordered him to stop in Market street near Adams. Bayne told the police and three accomplices entered the car, announcing to the actresses, "we want your jewelry."

They took a diamond bracelet valued at $28,000 and an imitation diamond ring worth $95 from Miss Bennett and several rings and bracelets valued at $5,000 from Miss Louise. The jewels were insured.

One of the men tried to take a mink coat from Miss Bennett which she said was worth $7500, but she said it. "We'll have to take you with the coat lady," he said.

"You'll have to hurry, she replied, 'there's someone coming.'"

With that the robbers, apparently frightened, jumped into their car and "led" in their haste they overlooked diamond earrings and a brooch worn by Miss Bennett, and valued at $4500. Ainley also carried $400 in cash but no attempt was made to search him, he said.

Miss Bennett complained to the police. "This is a fine thing to have happen. First we go to a charity performance and then we get robbed. We didn't see a cop all over the loop."

THE PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Service Sports Editor
Benjamin McCoy will collect $35,000 or more for signing a baseball contract.

Indeed, the infielder declared a free agent in Commissioner Landis' investigation of the Detroit Tigers' farm system, asked the White Sox for $10,000 and a three-year agreement.

The Pirates have bid $35,000 for Benny McCoy, and with the Dodgers promising to top all offers and the rich Red Sox and Giants among the 11 clubs in the field, the personable young man from Grand Rapids can't miss doing all right for himself.

Offhand, a $35,000 bonus for a lad who has played no more than 55 major league games seems a lot of money.

But McCoy is collecting because good players come cheap as free agents. If the 22-year-old infielder is anywhere near as good as he appeared to be in Bengal livery last season, imagine what a minor league outfit would get for him.

Ferrell Was Paid $25,000

By Browns

As a free agent, McCoy instead of the minor league club, gets the coin. That is the way the late Phil Ball of the Browns figured when he paid Richard Ferrell, the current Washington catcher, $25,000 for coming into the fold in the spring of 1929.

Lee Handley of the Yankees obtained $20,000 each when they were given a break by Emancipator Landis.

Skeeter Webb, a frail little fellow who was . . . and is . . . no terror at the plate, banked $12,000 when Cleveland took him after he had been released from the Cardinal chain gang by Judge Landis.

Rick Ferrell holds the price-for-a-free agent record which will be cracked by McCoy, but Robert Feller would have hung up a mark that perhaps would have stood for all time had Carl Landis declared him a free man in the fall of 1936.

Had Cyrus Christopher Slapnicka,

general manager of the Indians, liberally set out to make Bob Feller a free agent, he could not have done a better job under the rules in existence at the time.

Loyale, Feller Stuck with Cleveland Club

It is believed that the only reason why Landis did not throw Farm Boy Feller on the open market was that he feared the effect the tremendous bidding would have had on one so young. So the Cleveland club was let down with a fine.

Feller who went on to break the major league record for strikeouts and to win 24 American League games before he was 21, easily would have brought $100,000.

"I believe I could have had my free agency as easily as I can snap my fingers," Feller has said since. "It would have been worth a lot of money to me."

"But I owed too much to Mr. Slapnicka and the Cleveland club to take advantage of a technicality. As far as money goes, I'm doing all right as it is. And I have the satisfaction of knowing that I stuck with the people who stuck with me, when I was just a young punk with a sore shoulder."

There you have another reason why Robert Feller was the greatest pitcher in baseball before he could vote.

Port Meirion, North Wales, is Great Britain's only privately owned seaside resort; an architect's dream created an Italian-type village there.

in slower-burning Camels," says Bill Corum, famed sports writer and columnist

SURE I WORK FAST— BUT I LIKE MY SMOKING SLOW.

MILDER, COOLER CAMELS ARE CHAMPS WITH ME

Here's Bill at work in the quiet of his office. Bill...typewriter...books...pictures... and Camels—slow-burning Camels. "I find them milder and cooler—and thrifter," he says. And, being a Camel fan of many years' standing, he ought to know.

BILL CORUM'S sports news isn't just printed...it's sprinted...at lightning speed from press-box to press and the Five-Star Final. But when the candid camera catches Bill in his office with a cigarette—well, "No speed for me in my smoking," he says. His own common sense and smoking experience tell him what scientists have confirmed in their research laboratories—that "slow-burning" cigarettes are extra mild, extra cool, fragrant, and flavorful.

Cigarettes that burn fast just naturally burn hot. And nothing so surely wrecks the delicate elements of flavor and fragrance in a cigarette as excess heat. You don't want a hot, flat, uncomfortable smoke. The delightful mildness, coolness, fragrance, and flavor of Camels are explained by this important finding—Camels proved to be the slowest-burning cigarette of the sixteen largest-selling brands tested! (The panel at right explains the test.)

LIGHTNING-FAST in the press-box! Why, Bill Corum's been known to file 3,000 words of sizzling copy during a single sports event. But no speed for him in his smoking—slower-burning Camels are Bill Corum's cigarette. He likes that extra mildness, coolness, and flavor.

SMOKERS: SAVE AGAINST THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX

Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See below.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this unique economy—and all the extra enjoyment of cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.

FAST BURNING—creates hot taste in smoke... ruins delicate flavor, aroma...

SLOW BURNING—protects natural qualities that mean mildness, thrilling taste, fragrance... a cooler smoke...

In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to
